

Nancy April

My latest body of work is representational and is derived from the photos that I have taken on my travels. This particular piece is my interpretation of the vegetation along a garden path in Galway, Ireland.